THE Second Chance

PROGRAM

A multidisciplinary community resource program for individuals and families affected by the addiction epidemic.

What is the second chance program?

We're an interdisciplinary team of addiction treatment professionals, law enforcement & government officials, advocates & citizens determined to do our part in turning the tables on addiction, relapse and needless death.

The Elizabethtown Borough and Northwest Regional Police Departments have joined forces with Blueprints for Addiction Recovery, Inc. to establish resources in favor of rehabilitation over incarceration, hope over helplessness, life over death.

How does it work?

With a dedicated service team including police officers, counselors, certified recovery specialists (CRS), response and support staff, the Second Chance program can accommodate individuals seeking help in a variety of ways.

Who are we here to help?

The Second Chance Program was designed to serve communities across south central Pennsylvania. From citizens in crisis to families and loved ones who don't know where to turn, we offer a way out, a way up and a way forward.

Citizens without active warrants who take advantage of the Program will be assessed and guided in seeking professional services without fear of prosecution.

Emergency response

The Second Chance Program employs a team of Certified Recovery Specialists trained to respond in emergency & crisis situations. By working together with people in need, they coordinate appropriate treatment & rehabilitation services across the region.
